- g. theft of school or personal property while at school, on school property or at a school function.
- h. Any language or behavior that degrades, denigrates, stereotypes, incites hatred or fear, prejudice, discrimination, harassment toward individuals on the basis of their real or perceived sexual orientation or gender identification will not be tolerated.

Rising expectations. It is expected that as students move from grade to grade, they will assume increasing personal responsibility for behaving in a safe and appropriate manner while on PHSS property, attending PHSS functions and while being involved in school-related activities.

Consequences. The nature of the consequences for non-compliance with the school code of conduct will be reflective of the level of the offense and the age and maturity level of the student. Those in authority (adult supervisors, teachers and administrators) will consider the severity and frequency of unacceptable conduct in determining disciplinary action. Where possible, consequences will be restorative in nature.

Consequences include, but are not limited to:

- Meeting with the student, teacher, and school administration
- Meeting with the parent/guardian
- Meeting with the student, teacher and counselor
- Referral to the school-based team
- Referral to the alternate class

- Administrative intervention up to and including suspension to the Board of Trustees and withdrawal from school
- Involvement of the RCMP and/or other community agencies

N.B. Special consideration may apply to students with special needs if those students are unable to comply with a code of conduct due to having a disability of an intellectual, physical, sensory, emotional or behavioural nature.

Notification School staff may, depending on the severity and frequency of unacceptable conduct:

- contact and inform parents directly about a student's unacceptable conduct
- inform the parents of students who have been the victims of unacceptable conduct
- inform school district officials as required by district policies
- contact police and other agencies as required by law
- alert school staff and school community as deemed appropriate by school and/or district administration.

C. RIGHTS

- a. Retaliation. The Board will take all reasonable steps to prevent retaliation by a person against a student who has made a complaint of a breach of a code of conduct.

Human Rights in BC.

In conjunction with the PHSS Code of Student Conduct, the BC Human Rights Code applies to all businesses, agencies and services regulated by the province, including PHSS. It prohibits discrimination on the basis of an individual's or a group's race, colour, ancestry, place of origin, religion, marital status, family status, physical or mental disability, sex, or sexual orientation and age. In addition, no-one may, without a real and reasonable justification, deny accommodation, service or facility availability that is customarily available to the public, to any person because of the race, colour, ancestry, place of origin, religion, marital status, family status, physical or mental disability, sex, or sexual orientation and age of a person or class of persons.

Sexual-Gender Diversity

PHSS is an LGBTQ+ supportive school and will ensure the learning environment is safe and free from harassment and discrimination. At PHSS we strive to celebrate gender and sexual diversity.

Students who are lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, or questioning (referred to in this part as 'LGBTQ+'), or are perceived to be LGBTQ+, or who associate with LGBTQ+ people, have rights to equal protection, privacy and free expression. LGBTQ+ students and same-gender parented families have a right to be recognized and affirmed.
